Countdown to Prelude is on

Yes, Virginia, there will be a Christmas Prelude in 2021 ... back for its 40th year! Most of the signature Prelude events are happening, with some slight changes required for the times. The Friday night tree lightings, for example, have been transformed into a Prelude Opening/Family Festival, with rolling "tree lightings" and street vendors along the roads, which will be closed to traffic.

Check out the schedule at ChristmasPrelude.com.

There's also the new Trail of Trees to celebrate the 40 years and the Hat Parade has a new route in Lower Village. The Cape Porpoise Lobster Trap Tree lighting festivities will be earlier in the afternoon, and the Monastery Caroling will be more spaced out over the expansive lawn. But Santa will still make a trip by lobster boat (and fire truck in Cape Porpoise), and the Pooch Parade and most of the craft fairs will go on as they traditionally do. Check out the website for full details so you can help us spread the word on Prelude 2021!
