

K9 First Response Maine

Owner?

Kimberly Brown

How long in business?

15 years!

Primary business/service offered?

Animal assisted intervention.

What makes your business special?

Our highly trained therapy dogs offer a unique form of emotional support by helping people feel understood and comforted during challenging times. Through our Therapy Dog Programs, we create an environment that encourages free and open expressions of feelings.

Best thing you sell/serve/do?

The best thing about K9 First Response, Maine, is our ability to provide unconditional love, comfort and support to a wide range of individuals in need. We serve diverse populations including those recovering from trauma, individuals with disabilities, patients in hospitals and students in educational settings.

Something people don't realize about your business?

One thing people may not realize about our business is the extensive training and preparation involved for both the dogs and the handlers. Our dogs undergo ongoing training to ensure they are prepared to work in various environments and that they still love the work that they do. Additionally, as a handler, I also have to undergo extensive training each year in order to effectively facilitate therapeutic interactions for the individuals we serve.
