

Maine Website Management

Owner?

Emily Willis

How long in business?

3 months

Primary business/service offered?

Web design, web development, web hosting, and web management.

What makes your business special?

I make professional web design accessible to small businesses that assumed it was out of their reach. No bloated agency pricing, no confusing packages — just straightforward, high-quality work at a price that actually makes sense for a local business.

Best thing you sell/serve/do?

I take the stress of your website completely off your plate. Whether that's building you something new, refreshing what you've got, or just handling the ongoing updates and maintenance so your site never goes stale — I make sure your online presence is always working for you, even when you're focused on running your business.

Something people don't realize about your business/services?

Most people don't realize they don't have to figure any of this out themselves. A lot of my clients come to me overwhelmed — unsure where to start, stuck with a site they'd outgrown, or just tired of trying to manage it on top of everything else. I handle the whole thing, start to finish, and our average response time is 48 hours. You're never waiting around wondering what's happening with your website.
