Impact Horse

Connecting Humans and Horses

How long in business?

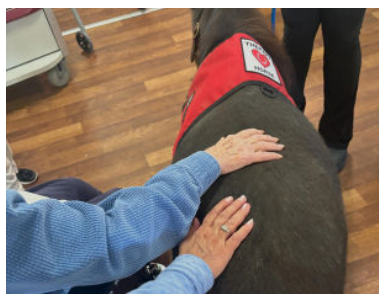

In 2023, Impact Horse became classified as a federally recognized 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization and public charity.

Primary business/service offered?

Our primary offering is miniature therapy horse visits all over Maine. We founded Maine's Mini Horse Yoga, and offer other wellness programs in collaboration with providers, instructors and practitioners. Our miniature therapy horses are specialty trained and registered. Our board members are dedicated community members who generously share their time and expertise.

What makes your business special?

We are volunteer run. All proceeds from visits and donations to our programs directly support the care of our therapy horses and help keep our programming sustainable.

Best thing you sell/serve/do?

Visiting memory care communities and nursing homes is one of the most meaningful parts of our mission. Watching residents' faces light up as our miniature therapy horses stroll through hallways, visit private rooms, and spend time on community patios is truly remarkable.

The joy, comfort, connection, and cherished memories these tiny horses inspire are powerful to witness. Seeing the positive impact they have on residents is not only deeply rewarding for those we serve, but also brings immense fulfillment and happiness to our dedicated volunteers. Moments like these remind us why we do this—create meaningful connections, one tiny hoof at a time.

Something people don't realize about your business/services?

We rely on generous donations, grants, corporate sponsorships and revenue from our facility partners to offer programs. Our founder and executive director also works for a college in addition to running Impact Horse. We offer various monthly/yearly sponsorship options and are seeking generous donations for mini retreats, mini horse yoga, miniature mindfulness, and more.
